Dr. Scott Lively Says “Go Phil!”

Duck Dynasty star Phil Robertson has at least one defender in the “progressive” heart of New England. Independent Candidate for MA Governor, Dr. Scott Lively of Springfield, strongly supports not just the right of the Louisiana television phenomenon to freedom of speech, but also endorses the comments themselves:

“What Phil Robertson said is just plain Bible truth,” said Lively. “Men and women were designed to be complimentary sexual partners but ‘gay’ sex is self-evidently disordered and harmful. No amount of heavy-handed propaganda by the leftist media or harassment of pro-family advocates by pro-‘gay’ bullies can change that simple fact. My guess is that the A&E network has bitten off more Duck than it can chew by firing Phil Robertson and is already starting to choke on it.

“The backlash against the cable giant is reminiscent of Chic-Fil-A Day in August of 2012 when the country was stunned by a vast outpouring of support for the Christian-owned company which had taken a public stand against homosexual marriage. I find both incidents very heartening and wonder if we may be seeing the beginning of a nation-wide backlash against what I call homo-fascism.” I define homo-fascism as ‘a form of extreme left-wing radicalism which attempts to establish rigid totalitarian controls over public discussions and policies addressing sexual morality, and to punish or suppress all disapproval of homosexuality and related sexual behaviors.’”
